Confetti pocket cards

Add some homemade sparkle to your Christmas cards at your Crafternoon. These simple and effective cards can mostly be made with things you might find at home so they're perfect if you're short on time or low on materials.

Crafty shopping list

- Blank cards
- Scissors and tape
- Pencil
- A glass or something round to draw around
- A sandwich bag or clear plastic pocket
- Confetti, sequins or old wrapping paper to make your own
- Marker pen

Bauble/Snowglobe

Present

Earth-friendly tip: these cards are a great way to give second life to plastic packaging; you can make the pocket by taping up edges of any clear plastic.

How to make

Decide which picture to make on your card. Cut out the template from the front of this sheet, or draw around something in your home to get a square or circle shape.

Carefully cut out the shape. Poke a small hole through your card with a sharp pencil first and then cut out from there using scissors.

Now make your pocket. Cut a piece of plastic packaging out so its 2cm wider than your shape and twice as long. Fold this in half and tape up two of the sides, leaving one open side.

Make your confetti by cutting up old wrapping paper or magazines into little pieces. Add some sparkle by cutting up shiny Christmas paper or ribbon too, rather than buying it new.

Add the confetti carefully into your pocket and seal at the top with sellotape.

Make yourself a little funnel from a scrap of paper to pour in the confetti.

It can be tricky to get a smooth edge cutting with scissors, you can always smooth off rough bits with some sandpaper or a nail file.

Tape the pocket to the inside of the card and give it a shake to move the confetti around.

Carefully draw around your shape and draw on the ribbon with a marker pen. Write a message of your choice on the front.

For an extra special touch you could personalise this message for the recipient of the card.
