

Valentine's fundraising ideas

Love it or hate it, there's no escaping Valentine's Day. Make the most of the buzz with our romantic (and not-so) fundraising ideas.

Get crafty

Make some cute, simple, hilarious cards to sell for the big day. You may find friends and colleagues who've forgotten to buy a card for their partner are particularly receptive!

Anti-Valentine

If all the romantic stuff isn't your thing why not hold a scary film night with snacks, charging for entry, as a satisfying antithesis to all things lovey dovey.

Bake sale

Everyone loves an excuse to enjoy sweet treat. Bake some heart shaped biscuits and chocolate treats to sell for donations.

Donations

Simply ask anyone who might usually buy you a card to show their affection through a donation on your JustGiving page instead.

Swipe right

Post a link to your JustGiving page on your dating app bio. The world swipes right for kind, charitable souls.

Palentine's day

Get your friends together and host a cheese and wine night or an at home spa day, asking for a donation from attendees.

For more inspiration and advice, visit

mind.org.uk

